ABSTRACT

A method of displaying an image of at least a portion of a virtual patient including accessing identification of a video file, the video file comprising video data that depicts
5 virtual patient features over a range of the features, determining an offset into the video file and presenting the video image corresponding to the offset.

10     20076501.doc